MRS. KENNEDY MAY PLEAD INSANITY.

Kansas City Woman Who Murdered Her Husband Says She Was Driven to Desperation.

GIVES HER SIDE OF THE STORY.

Witnesses of Killing Before Grand Jury-Indictment May Be Murder in the First Degree.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Kansas City. Mo., Jan. 28.-To-day the Grand Jury began the work of investigating the killing of Philip Kennedy by pretty Mrs. Lulu Price Kennedy. The entire effort of the Prosecuting Attorney has been to collect evidence for the trial, holding that there would be a true bill rendered. To-day four witnesses were examined, all of them eyewitnesses to the murder and implicating Mrs. Kennedy. The showing before the Grand Jury was so strong that to-night it is believed the indictment will be for murder in the first degree. Mrs. Kennedy was almost beyond control in her prison cell. She asked fearfully and tearfully what the meaning of "first degree" was, and when told it meant deliterate murder she took a breath of hope.

"There was no deliberation in my case," she said. "I did not go to Phillip's office to kill him. I went, as I had many a time, to try and get him to make his home with me, make me more than a wife in name only, I had been forced to spend hours sitting on the steps at his door, jeered at by his friends. It cut me to the heart, but I was a woman and stood it. That day," and here she shuddered and gave way to tears, "that day when at last I met him I started to talk to him. He tried to get rout to leave day when at last I met him I started to talk to him. He tried to get past to leave me. I took him by the arm and 'mplored him only to hear me. I only wanted then to get him to withdraw his divorce suit. I took from him in word and 'ook and gesture what many a time in that I readful month he made me take, and then he thrust me to one side—me, als wife. Oh, I was mad-dened! Then, I suppose, I shot him. I do not know."

Confident of an Acquittal.

Attorney Nearing is confident of an acquittal, and he is anxious for a speedy trial. The new Prosecuting Attorney is anxious for delay, as he claims to have trouble finding important witnesses. When Mr. Nearing war asked to-day what his line of defense would be, he laughed.

"I will not say what mine will follow, it will try to lear the woman's character to pieces. The effort is an o'd dodge. Situated as Mrs. Kennedy is to-day, if it were the Bishop of the diocess of a saint, it would be possible to assail the haracter. But the woman is all right, and we will prove it. Excause raiscals were her enemies, she was not one. That woman will come out without a blot on her, except that she killed her husband—which is a frightful blot."

"But it was not self-defense. You cannot plead that?"

"Perhaps not." Confident of an Acquittal.

"Perhaps not."
"Then emotional insanity?" At this Mr.
Nearing helf his peace, but Mrs. Kennedy
this afternoon, when she said she "mas gave the reply, and undoubtedly that will be the defense.

CITIZENS FILE PETITIONS.

Another Turn in the St. Charles and Western Railway Fight.

The fight between the people of Pattonville and the St. Louis, St. Charles and Western Railway took another turn yesterdry, and this time the officials of the company claim to be on top.

pany claim to be on top.
On behalf of the Pattonville people, Jas. B. Avery went before the County Court at Clayton and filed three different petitions. The first, which was signed by twenty-six persons, stated that the sigrers regretted having signed the remonstrance against the railroad company when it attempted to increase the fare from St. Louis to Patton-ville. They gave three reasons for their regret, the first of which was that they lived outside the territory in question, the second that they had no property interests involved, and the third that they signed the remonstrance under a misunderstanding.

The second petition, which was signed by volved, and the third that they signed the remonstrance under a misunderstanding.

The second petition, which was signed by sixty persons, a number of whom are property-owners, stated that the signers had considered the question of fares, and realized the necessity of increasing the rate. They stated that they thought a 15-cent fare between St. Louis and the Missouri River was reasonable, and that it should be divided into three parts, of $\( \frac{1}{2} \) miles each. The third petition asked that a half rate be provided for people comnected with educational institutions and orphan asylums. This provision was framed for the benefit of Eden Seminary and the German Protestant Orphans' Home, and will be accepted by the railroad company.

CORONER'S UNIQUE INQUEST OVER BODY.

Jury Decides Murray H. Hall Was a Woman and Died a Natural Death.

MISS HALL ON THE STAND.

Adopted Daughter of Supposed Man Persists in Referring to Her as a Male-Doctor's Testimony.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. New York, Jan. 28.-The inquest into the death of Murray H. Hall, the Tammany politician, who, upon her death, January 17, was discovered to have been a woman, after having masqueraded as a man for nearly thirty years, took place before Coroner Zucca this evening. The first witness called was Imelda Hall, the deceased woman's adopted daughter. Miss Hall related that she had lived with Hall at No. 145 Sixth avenue since 1885. She said that she was not the legally adopted daughter of Hall, as no papers of adoption had been drawn up and signed at the time of her adoption or afterward.

Coroner Zucca ordered the reading of a letter which Hall wrote to the District Attorney four years ago, stating that the writer had been drugged and sandbagged by William Reno and asked the girl if she had heard Hall complain of that incident. "No. I knew for six years that he was suffering from cancer, but never heard him say that the sandbagging had made it

"Do you know whether the deceased was a man or a female—a lady?" asked Coroner Zucca.

"I do. After death I discovered the facts."

Doctor Gallagher was dismissed then, but as he left the stand Coroner Zucca said:

City Counselor Schnurmacher is in Washington looking after two cases in the Supreme Court affecting St. Louis street improvements. One of them is the case of Schumate vs. Heman, and yesterday this was advanced to be heard February 25 jointly with the French vs. Asphalt Paving Company, involving a similar question. The difference in the two cases is that one concerns sewer work and the other street paving improvements.

of the Board of Public Improvements

The Shumate suit was brought to enjoin the issue of special tax bills by the President of the Board of Public Improvements on Whittier street between Washington boulevard and Finney avenue. The claim was made in the lower court by the complainants, property owners, that the St. Louis charter and the ordinance passed under it, authorizing this work, are in conflict with the Constitution of the United States, in that the cost of street reconstruction is apportioned upon the abutting property in the proportion of each lot to the entire front feet in the improvement. Mr. Schnurmacher filed a plea to jurisdiction in the court below on the ground that neither of the complainants was interested to the amount of $2.000. The court held that the complainants could not unite their interests in order to confer jurisdiction. From that Mr. Wheless, one of the complainants, appealed for a writ of error.

AIM TO INVESTIGATE JUDGE WISLIZENUS.

Members of House of Delegates Pass Resolution at Boister-

Delegate Sweeney, at a meeting of the House yesterday, offered a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate into the actions and proceedings of Judge Adolph Wislizenus of the Second District Police Court, the committee to have power to summon witnesses and to cause the production of books and records for examination. The House became excited when the resolution was read by Clerk Judy, and Mr. Sweeney moved its adoption. Mr. Robertson made an earnest second, while several other members attempted to go on record in the same man-

"What's the reason for this?" Mr. Albright inquired, joining in the tumult. "Why," retorted Mr. Sweeney, "some body's insane out there."

"Mr. Speaker," shouted Mr. Albright, "I offer as an amendment that Doctor Rungs be made a member of the committee." He was declared out of order. Mr. Sturdevant objected to the resolution, saying that he would not vote a stigma on any man unless just reasons could be assigned. Furthermore, he was of the opinion that the House is not the proper body to make such an investigation. "Mr. Sturdevant is right," stated Mr. Tamblyn.

"I'm of the same belief as Sweeney," ex-I'm of the same belief as Sweeney, ex-cialmed Mr. Robertson, giving a description of how he thought proceedings are con-ducted in the Dayton Street Police Court. Mr. Albright frequently interrupted the re-marks by asking about his amendment. Mr. Bersch also made a brief statement in favor of the resolution. Before the vote was announced Mr. Sturdevant ridiculed the pur-pose of investigating a man's judicial dis-cretion and maintained that the House has not jurisdiction He was supported by Mr.

Tamblyn.

Messrs. Sturdevant, Tamblyn, Hartmann, Zachritz, Schumacher and Speaker Murrell voted against the resolution. Messrs.
Burke, Denny, Kelly, Cronin, Parker and Holtcamp were absent. The other fourteen voted aye, and the resolution carried.

It seems that many members of the House are antagonistic to Judge Wisligenus becluse of the requirements he demands for prisoners' bonds, as these Delegates are unable to assist their friends and constituents as they would like. Some of the members stated after the meeting that they were sorry they had voted for an investigation.

Miss Miller and W. H. Palmer Eloped From Red Bud, Ill., and Were Wed at Belleville.

W. H. Palmer and Miss Dillie Miller of Red Bud, Ill., eloped to Belleville, Ill., via St. Louis, and were married yesterday afternoon at the Belleville House by Justice W. E. Ward.

The couple returned to St. Louis and last night registered at the Laclede Hotel. Young Paimer appears to be 18 years old. although he asserts he is 21. Mrs. Palmer says her age is 18, though she looks two years younger.

Mrs. Palmer is the daughter of the former City Marshal of Red Bud. Palmer, whose father is Commissioner of Randolph County, had been engaged to the young lady for some time. Her parents objected to the marriage. Saturday the young folks concluded to come to St. Louis and be married. The young lady arrived Sunday and Palmer came yesterday morning. He met they proceeded to Belleville, where they were married. After the ceremony the couple sent a telegram to their parents announcing the wedding.
"We expect to return to Red Bud in the morning," mid the bridegroom last night.

"My wife's mother did not want us to marry, but we concluded to have the ceremony performed anyway." The young couple do not anticipate a scene when they return, and the bridegroom is confident it will turn out all right.
